

I'm not robot  reCAPTCHA

Open

Animals Homes

Animal & Their Homes

Sl. No	Animal	Home
1	Lion	Den
2	Bear	Cave
3	Cow	Shed
4	Pig	Pigsty
5	Mouse	Hole
6	Rabbit	Burrow
7	Hen	Coop
8	Horse	Stable
9	Dog	Kennel
10	Bee	Hive
11	Spider	Web
12	Eagle	Eyrie
13	Owl	Barn
14	Pigeon	Dove-cot
15	Tiger	Lair
16	Squirrel	Drey
17	Crocodile	Nest
18	Frog	Frogger
19	Llama	Hut
20	Turtle	sea
21	Many Birds	Cage

Farm animal house names. Animal house names characters. Animal house cast names. Animal house pledge names. Animal house names in english. Animal house names in hindi. Animal house frat names. Animal house delta tau chi names.

^ "Archived copy". He pulls out onto the street to the strains of the William Tell Overture, gives a manic laugh exactly like D-Day's, and speeds off. Archived from the original on August 3, 2020. ISBN 9780857726421. ^ Arnold, Gary (August 11, 1978). Variety. www.boxofficemojo.com. Stumped. ^ a b c d e "National Lampoon's Animal House". ^ a b Darling, Lynn; Joe Calderone (September 26, 1978). Landis offered Ramis a smaller part, but he declined. Box Office Mojo. ^ "Empire's The 500 Greatest Movies of All Time". Landis worked with Belushi on his character, who "hardly had any dialogue"; [51][4] they decided that Bluto was a cross between Harpo Marx and the Cookie Monster.[51][15] Belushi said he developed his ability to communicate without talking because his grandmother spoke little English.[16] Belushi was considered a supporting actor and Universal wanted another star.[4] Landis had been a crew member of Kelly's Heroes and had become friends with actor Donald Sutherland, sometimes babysitting his son Kiefer.[7] He had also just worked with him on Kentucky Fried Movie. Retrieved August 16, 2007. "National Lampoon's Animal House Double Secret Probation Edition". "National Lampoon's Animal House". ^ Ansen, David (August 7, 1978). Eric Stratton - Gynecologist, Beverly Hills, California. The stories were based on Ramis's experience in the Zeta Beta Tau fraternity at Washington University in St. Louis, Miller's Alpha Delta Phi experiences at Dartmouth College in New Hampshire, and producer Reitman's at McMaster University in Hamilton, Ontario. Landis met with Jack Webb to play Dean Wormer and Kim Novak to play his wife; at the time, Webb reportedly turned down the role because of concerns over his clean-cut Dragnet image, but later said he didn't find the script funny. Retrieved December 4, 2016. ^ Baker, Dean (October 25, 1977). Chip Diller - Landis receives a letter from Diller, who is currently serving as a missionary in Africa. At the time of the shooting, the Phi Kappa Psi and Sigma Nu fraternity houses sat next to the old Phi Sigma Kappa house, on the 700 block of East 11th Avenue.[21] The interior of the Phi Kappa Psi house and the Sigma Nu house were used for many of the interior scenes, but the individual rooms were filmed on a soundstage. Around 1959, it was acquired by the Psi Deuteron chapter of Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity and was their chapter house until 1967, when the chapter was closed due to low membership. ^ Lee, Grant (February 15, 1980). "Young Actor Weary of Lying About Age". ^ a b Ebert, Roger (January 1, 1978). Archived from the original on March 22, 2016. Internet Brands. Retrieved October 15, 2020. ^ "Animal House DVD Release Date". Home media Since its initial release, the film has garnered an estimated $141 million in domestic total gross sales, not including merchandising.[3] Animal House was released on videocassette in 1978.[59] It was released on VHS in 1980, 1983, 1988, and 1990. "We've come a long way, but it can all be taken away". Outraged by Marion's escapades and with the mayor threatening personal violence, Wormer organizes a hearing and revokes Delta's charter. As chaos ensues, the futures of several of the characters are revealed; most of the Deltas become respectable professionals while the Omegas and the other adversaries suffer less fortunate outcomes. He appears to be senile, not recognizing Landis at first (calling him "Larry"), and not remembering his tenure as Dean of Faber. ^ "Rental Champs Rate of Return". 100 Laughs, a list of the 100 best American comedies.[70] In 2006, Miller wrote a more comprehensive memoir of his experiences in Dartmouth's AD house in a book entitled, The Real Animal House: The Awesomely Depraved Saga of the Fraternity That Inspired the Movie, in which Miller recounts hijinks that were considered too risqué for the movie. ^ a b c d e f g h i Peterson, Molly (July 29, 2002). After Bluto rallies the despondent Deltas with an impassioned speech, they decide to get revenge on Wormer, the Omegas, and the college at the annual homecoming parade. She loves sugar and wearing pretty ribbons in her mane, and she never cares much for the revolution—supporting it would mean she couldn't have sugar or ribbons. Retrieved January 28, 2011. Barenaked Ladies were originally announced to write the score, but they were replaced by composer David Yazbek.[73] Casey Nicholaw will direct.[74] author Michael Mitnick is also reportedly involved.[75] Later criticism In a 2021 opinion piece in The Sydney Morning Herald on International Women's Day about the acceptance of rape culture and sexual assault, the movie was criticized as being "peppered with rapey humour" although it's been argued its due to its dark humorous nature.[76] References ^ "NATIONAL LAMPOON'S ANIMAL HOUSE (AA)". We didn't back off anything".[7] The writers eventually created nine drafts of the screenplay, and the studio gradually became more receptive to the project, especially Mount, who championed it.[10] The studio green-lighted the film and set the budget at a modest $3 million.[6] Simmons remembers, "They just figured, 'Screw it, it's a silly little movie, and we'll make a couple of bucks if we're lucky—let them do whatever they want.'"[7] Casting Initially, Reitman had wanted to direct but had made only one film, Cannibal Girls, for $5,000.[7] The film's producers approached Richard Lester before considering John Landis, who got the director job based on his work on Kentucky Fried Movie.[10] That film's script and continuity supervisor was the girlfriend of Sean Daniel, an assistant to Mount. ^ "All Time Box Office Adjusted for Ticket Price Inflation". Dave Jennings Cesare Danova as Mayor Carmine DePasto Sarah Holcomb as Clorette DeWayne Jessie as Otis Day Douglas Kenney as Dwayne "Stork" Storkman Christian Miller as Curtis "Hardbar" Wayne Fuller Production Development Animal House was the first film produced by National Lampoon, the most popular humor magazine on college campuses in the mid-1970s.[6] The periodical specialized in satirizing politics and popular culture. ^ "Famous people of Whitewater". 1978 comedy film by John Landis For other uses, see Animal House (disambiguation). Archived from the original on March 5, 2016. Archived from the original on July 28, 2020. Film.com. Did you say "over"? Nothing is over until we decide it is! Was it over when the Germans bombed Pearl Harbor? ^ a b c d Mitchell, Elvis (August 25, 2003). "More 'Animal House' For Screen: Extol U's 'Intelligent Cooperation'". Its consensus states "The talents of director John Landis and Saturday Night Live's irrepressible John Belushi conspired to create a rambunctious, subversive college comedy that continues to resonate."[34] On Metacritic, the film has a weighted average score of 79 out of 100 based on 13 reviews, indicating "generally favorable reviews".[35] Roger Ebert gave the film four stars out of four and wrote, "It's anarchic, messy, and filled with energy. Metacritic. Several of the actors who were cast as college students, including Hulce, Karen Allen, and Kevin Bacon, were just beginning their film careers. Retrieved October 1, 2020. Bloomsbury Publishing. Animal House: Collector's Edition DVD. It was inspired by stories written by Miller and published in National Lampoon. Retrieved May 5, 2016 - via Google Books. Retrieved May 19, 2010. Because of this, she abandons Animal Farm and enters into service for another human only a few months after the rebellion. Globe and Mail. Archived from the original on April 25, 2011. He also boasts of how his legal advice was sought during the O. ^ a b Frank Palotta (April 3, 2014). Archived from the original on December 13, 2020. Otis's face is badly marked up, reminding viewers of Donald's antics while a student at the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater.[8] Kenney and Ramis started working on a new film treatment together, positing Charles Manson in a high school, calling it Laser Orgy Girls.[7] Simmons was cool to this idea so they changed the setting to a "northeastern college". "John Landis on Harold Ramis: He Was Very Angry Vietnam as his father was a prime donor to several right-wing political campaigns. Archived from the original on September 8, 2006. Retrieved November 11, 2015. The New York Times via Internet Archive. Kenney, Miller and Ramis began brainstorming ideas.[7] They say the film's 1962 setting as "the last innocent year." Daniel Simpson Day - Landis remarks in a voiceover that D-Day had been the hardest to track down for the documentary, saying that rumors have flown around, with his whereabouts ranging from a Buddhist monastery in Nepal to the Yukon Territory. There was a great deal of projectile vomiting and rape and all these things".[11] Landis claims his big contribution to the film was that there "had to be good guys and bad guys. Otter picks up four young women from the Emily Dickinson College as dates for himself and fellow Deltas by posing as Frank Lymon, the fiancé of a college student who died in a recent kin explosion. Retrieved December 24, 2016. In 2008, Empire magazine selected it as No. 279 of "The 500 Greatest Movies of All Time". December 15, 1997. August 29, 1978. 20/20. An attractive, blonde patient in her underwear then tells Otter she's ready for her examination. (Oregon). It assaults us. Retrieved March 7, 2021. Neidermeyer Kevin Bacon as Chip Diller Mary Louise Weller as Mandy Peppertide Martha Smith as Barbara "Babs" Sue Jansen John Vernon as Dean Vernon Wormer Verma Bloom as Mrs. His wife Deborah Nadoolman purchased most of the costumes at local thrift stores, and she and Judy Belushi made the party togas.[4] Landis and Bruce McGill staged a scene for reporters visiting the set where the director pretended to be angry at the actor for being difficult on the set.[25] Landis grabbed a breakfast pitcher and smashed it over McGill's head. listal.com. Anthems and the Making of Nation States: Identity and Nationalism in the Balkans. Retrieved June 28, 2012. Archived from the original on September 26, 2007. ^ a b c Arnold, Gary (August 13, 1978). ISBN 9780857726423. p. 88. Archived from the original on March 9, 2012. Archived from the original on January 31, 2021. "On Film". Retrieved November 6, 2011. February 19, 1979. "Gross Out".[7] They stop at a roadhouse bar where The Knights are performing, ignoring its exclusively African-American clientele. Los Angeles Times, Retrieved November 11, 2016. He recalls how he was prevented from going to New York to do the show on Thursday through Saturday.[9] Ramis originally wrote the role of Boon for himself, but Landis felt that he looked too old for the part and Peter Riegert was cast instead. The 2003 "Double Secret Probation Edition" DVD included a short film, Where Are They Now?: A Delta Alumni Update, a monckumentary purporting that the original film had been a documentary and Landis was catching up with some of the cast (played by their original actors). Ultimately, John Vernon was cast as Wormer after Landis saw him in the Outlaw Josey Wales.[4] Belushi initially received only $35,000 for Animal House, but was paid a bonus after the film became a hit.[9] Landis also met with Meat Loaf in case Belushi turned down the role of Bluto. Retrieved March 15, 2020. Archived from the original on June 7, 2011. Wormer's wife Marion attends at Otter's invitation. ^ "Script Review: Animal House 2". ^ "AFI's 100 Years... FilmBuffOnline. Kroger's and Peppertide's characters in the yearbook were effectively the same as their characters in the movie, whereas Vernon Wormer was a P. PopMatters. Sources Hoover, Eric (2008) "Animal House" at 30: O Bluto, Where Art Thou?". Chronicle of Higher Education. v55 n2 pA1 Sep 2008 Daniel P. ^ Pavkovic, Aleksandar; Kelen, Christopher (October 28, 2015). It was first released on DVD in February 1998 in a "bare bones" Full Screen presentation, Oregon Historical Society. TVShowsOnDVD.com. Later, Chris Miller and John Weidman, another Lampoon writer, created a treatment for this screenplay, but Universal rejected it because the sequel to American Graffiti, which contained some hippie-1967 sequences, had not done well. Ramis drew from his own fraternity experiences as a member of Zeta Beta Tau fraternity at Washington University in St. Louis and was working on a film treatment about college called "Freshman Year", but the magazine's editors were not happy with it.[6] The famous scene of Bruce McGill as D-Day riding a motorcycle up the stairs of the fraternity house was inspired by Belushi's antics while a student at the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater.[8] Kenney and Ramis started working on a new film treatment together, positing Charles Manson in a high school, calling it Laser Orgy Girls.[7] Simmons was cool to this idea so they changed the setting to a "northeastern college". "John Landis on Harold Ramis: He Was Very Angry Not to Be Cast in 'Animal House'". This DVD also includes "Did You Know That?": Wolk, Josh (September 4, 1998). The character of D-Day was based on Akrydoff, who was a motorcycle aficionado. When John Belushi died, the idea was indefinitely shelved.[57] A second attempt at a sequel was made in 1982 with producer Matty Simmons co-authoring a script which saw some of the Deltas returning to Faber College five years after the events of the film. two different deleted scenes with Otter and a couple of his girlfriends (one played by Sunny Johnson—listed in the credits as "Otter's Co-Ed" although her scene was deleted—and the other played by location scout Katherine Wilson, whose deleted scene can be seen in the theatrical trailer). Tucciarone (2007) "Cinematic Drama: 'National Lampoon's Animal House' Teaches Theories of Student Development", in Journal of College Student Development External links Wikimedia Commons has media related to Animal House. The film is about a trouble-making fraternity whose members challenge the authority of the dean of the fictional Faber College. Similar to his preferring dramatic actors for the comedy, Landis asked Bernstein to score it as though it were serious. Archived from the original on May 1, 2008. Later, Marmalard and other Omegas lure Otter to a motel and beat him up after Mandy's best friend Barbara Sue "Babs" Jansen fabricates an affair between Mandy and Otter. Archived from the original on October 22, 2010. In the late 2000s, the very first song on the soundtrack, the "Faber College Theme", came to prominence due to its purported resemblance to the Bosnian national anthem.[27][28][29] Soundtrack album listing Side oneNo.TitleWriter(s)Performed byLength1."Faber College Theme"Johannes Brahms, adapted by Elmer BernsteinElmer Bernstein0:352."Louie Louie"Richard BerryJohn Belushi2:563."Twistin' the Night Away"Sam CookeSam Cooke2:394."Tossin' and Turnin'"Ritchie Adams, Malou ReneBobby Lewis2:495."Shama Lama Ding Dong"Mark DavisLloyd Williams (Otis Day and the Knights)2:486."Hey Paula"Raymond HildebrandPaul & Paula2:477."Animal House"Stephen Bishop3:41 Slide twoNo.TitleWriter(s)Performed byLength1."Intro (The Riddle Song)"TraditionalStephen Bishop0:492."Money (That's What I Want)"Berry Gordy Jr., Janie BradfordJohn Belushi2:313."Let's Dance"Jim LeeChris Montez2:284."Dream Girl"Stephen BishopStephen Bishop4:345."(What a) Wonderful World"Sam Cooke, Herb Alpert, Lou AdlerSam Cooke2:066."Shout"Ronald Isley, Rudolph Isley, O'Kelly IsleyLloyd Williams (Otis Day and the Knights)5:047."Faber College Theme"Elmer BernsteinElmer Bernstein1:16 Additional music in the film "Theme from A Summer Place", composed by Max Steiner; performed by Percy Faith and his Orchestra "Who's Sorry Now?", written by Ted Snyder, Bert Kalmar and Harry Ruby; performed by Connie Francis "The Washington Post March", composed by John Philip Sousa "Tammy", by Jay Livingston and Ray Evans Reception Critical reception At the time of its release, Animal House received mixed reviews from critics[5] but several immediately recognized its appeal,[30] and it has since been recognized as one of the best films of 1978.[31][32][33] The film holds a 90% positive rating on the review aggregator website Rotten Tomatoes from 52 critics. Retrieved December 4, 2021. ^ "Year's Best". Plot In fall 1962, Faber College freshmen Larry Kroger and Kent Dorfman seek to pledge a fraternity. Archived from the original on May 5, 2020. Belushi and his wife Judy rented a house in south Eugene in order to keep him away from alcohol and drugs:[7][15] she remained in Oregon while he commuted to New York City for Saturday Night Live. A vain, white horse who prior to the rebellion, pulls Mr. Jones's cart. ^ "Animal House Reviews". Pinto takes her home in a shopping cart and discovers she is the mayor's under-age daughter. "School Days". ^ Kim, Wook (September 5, 2003). ^ "AFI's 100 Years...100 Movie Quotes" (PDF). "National Lampoon's Animal House [Blu-ray]: John Belushi, Tom Hulce, John Landis. Archived from the original on December 7, 2020. High-Def Digest. p. D1. When Landis mentions the Deltas, Wormer erupts into a violent, profanity-laced tirade against the boys who cost him his job. Retrieved September 1, 2020. The Washington Post. Simmons met with Ned Tamen, an executive at Universal Pictures. And we had a lot of scenes that were almost orgies of vomit. Retrieved August 20, 2008. Otter politely ends the interview and goes into the examination room. Published April 29, 2003. Penguin Random House. Archived from the original on April 15, 2005. Archived from the original on February 2, 2010. Principal photography Filming began on October 24, 1977, and concluded in the middle of December 1977.[23] and Landis brought the actors who played the Deltas up five days early in order to bond. Archived from the original on January 28, 2010. "Building Animal House". Reitman and Simmons pitched it to every Hollywood studio. Archived from the original on July 26, 2020. ^ "Presidential History | Office of the President". One major change shown in this monckumentary from the epilogue of the original film is that Bluto went on from his career in the U.S. Senate to become the President of the United States, with a voiceover on a shot of the north portico of the White House, since by then Belushi had died. ^ "The Best Movies of 1978 by Rank". "The Madcap World of John Landis". ^ a b c Waters, Harry F (January 29, 1979). (After finishing his time in the Army, Bluto married Mandy and became a Senator, eventually being elected president). Retrieved October 10, 2008. "Animal House (film)". ^ "Co-ed Fever: Episode Listings". They make out until she passes out drunk. Retrieved April 23, 2021. Wikiquote has quotations related to: Animal House Patterson, Joanna (November 9, 2006). ^ "Lights, Camera, Summer". Babs Jansen - Tour guide, Universal Studios Hollywood. He lashes out against the nurse and then physically attacks Landis, consequently knocking out the camera. ^ a b c Wyant, Dan (December 2, 1977). Retrieved December 30, 2020. BroadwayWorld.com. DVDs Release Dates. When he learned of Doug Neidermeyer's fraging in Vietnam, he fell into alcoholism and despair. Oregon Encyclopedia. When he began seeing Jesus in his food, he became a born-again Christian and fell into his current profession as a minister and missionary. ^ a b Shales, Tom (January 18, 1979). Archived from the original on September 6, 2008. Filming took place in Oregon from October to December 1977. It was never shown theatrically. To cheer themselves up, the Deltas organize a toga party and bring in Otis Day and the Knights to provide live music. ^ "Disc Duel". ^ "Animal House Movie Reviews, Pictures". The Deltas all fail as their grade-point averages drop so low that Wormer tells them they need only one more incident to revoke their charter. Archived from the original on April 6, 2019. Dean Vernon Wormer wants to remove the Deltas who are already on probation due to various campus conduct violations and an abysmal academic standing. ^ "The Best 1,000 Movies Ever Made". Of the younger lead actors, only the 28-year-old Belushi was an established star, but even he had not yet appeared in a film, having gained fame as an original cast member of Saturday Night Live, which was in its third season in autumn 1977. "The 'chief animal'". In 2008, Empire magazine selected Animal House as one of The 500 Greatest Movies of All Time.[71] The film was also selected by The New York Times as one of The 1000 Best Movies Ever Made.[72] In 2012, Universal Pictures Stage Productions announced it was developing a stage musical version of the movie. Archived (PDF) from the original on March 16, 2013. British Board of Film Classification. ^ Fabrikant, Geraldine (September 28, 1987). Daniel saw Landis' movie and recommended him. The project got no further than a first draft script dated May 6, 1982.[58] Where Are They Now? National Public Radio. Digital Movie Talk. The reporters were completely fooled, and when Landis asked McGill to get up, he refused to move.[25] The closed Dexter Lake Club in 2011 Black extras had to be bused in from Portland for the segment at the Dexter Lake Club (43°54′50″N 122°48′41″W / 43.914°N 122.8115°W / 43.914; -122.8115) due to their scarcity around Eugene. Archived from the original on December 11, 2013. She tells Landis of how her husband Vernon accepted the blame for the parade debacle, and was subsequently fired, leading to their divorce. Empire Magazine. Retrieved December 10, 2017, invoking his emergency authority, he places Delta on "double-secret probation" and directs Omega producer Greg Marmalard to find a method to permanently remove Delta. Hoover recounts how he quit being a public defender after he realized that his clients were insane. Archived from the original on April 23, 2021. (April 28, 2014). April 29, 2003. Landis eventually approaches a house in Modesto, California, where a man opens the door by a crack and claims, in a Hispanic accent, "I don't know no D-Day person! I don't know him!" He slams the door in Landis' face and then bursts out of the garage in a car. The Deltas then sabotage all aspects of the parade and drive through the viewing stand. Franklin (2006) Politics and film: the political culture of film in the United States, pp. 133-4 Krista M. Archived from the original on November 7, 2017. Although the cast members were admonished against mixing with the college students, [5] one night, some girls invited several of the cast to a fraternity party; assuming the invitation had been made with the knowledge of the fraternity, the actors arrived and were initially greeted coldly which soon turned to open hostility.[7] It was obvious the group was not welcome, and as they were leaving, Widdoes threw a cup of beer at a group of drunk football players and a melee "like a scene from the movie"[5] broke out. John "Bluto" Blutarsky welcomes them and they meet other Deltas including Daniel Simpson "D-Day" Day, Chapter President Robert Hoover, Eric "Otter" Stratton, and Otter's best friend Donald "Boon" Schoenstein and girlfriend Katy. He recalls trying to die during the 1970s with a special program requiring him to shoot up the urine of pregnant women. "The Yearbook: An Animal House Reunion". A couple of hulking patrons intimidate the Deltas, who flee, abandoning their dates and damaging their cars. "TOGA! TOGA! TOGA!: The Toga Party, Popping Up on Campuses Across the Country". ^ "Complete National Film Registry Listing | Film Registry | National Film Preservation Board | Programs at the Library of Congress | Library of Congress". "Unleashed (Re-issue) (HD DVD)". Archived from the original on January 23, 2013. Dean Vernon Wormer - Wormer is seen at a nursing home in Florida, under the watchful eye of a male nurse. The crowd loved it and the filmmakers realized they had a potential hit on their hands.[7] The original cut of the movie was a lengthy 175 minutes and more than an hour was dropped; the deleted scenes included: a John Landis cameo as a cafeteria dishwasher who tries to stop Bluto from eating all the food. Retrieved January 8, 2019. Reitman, Landis, and Ramis became successful filmmakers; Landis' use of dramatic actors and soundtrack to make the comedy believable became the traditional approach for film comedies.[4] On the left-wing and counterculture side, the film included references to topical political matters like President Harry S. More seriously, the segment alarmed Tamen and other studio executives, who perceived it as racist and warned that "black people in America are going to rip the seats out of theaters if you leave that scene in the movie." Richard Pryor's approval helped retain the segment in the film.[51][4] The studio became more enthusiastic about the film when Reitman showed executives and sales managers of various regions in the country a 10-minute production reel that was put together in two days.[10] The reaction was positive and the studio sent 20 copies out to exhibitors.[10] The first preview screening for Animal House was held in Denver four months before it opened nationwide, an extended version of the scene where Bluto pursues mustard on himself and starts singing "I am the Mustard Man." Soundtrack and score Original Motion Picture Soundtrack:National Lampoon's Animal HouseSoundtrack album by various artistsReleased1978RecordedRCA Studios, New York and Sound Factory West, HollywoodGenreRock and roll, R&B, film scoreLength36:23LabelMCAProducerKenny Vance The soundtrack is a mix of rock and roll and rhythm and blues with the original score created by film composer Elmer Bernstein, who had been a Landis family friend since John Landis was a child.[26] Bernstein was easily persuaded to score the film, but was not sure what to make of it. After consulting with student government leaders and officers of the Pan Hellenic Club, the Director of University Relations advised the president that the script, although raunchy and often tasteless, was a very funny spoof of college life. Landis was the original (PDF) on July 7, 2011. The concluding parade scene was filmed on Main Street in downtown Cottage Grove, about twenty miles (30 km) south of Eugene via Interstate 5. "Box-Office Power: 'Animal House' Earns Respect". ^ a b Kenny, J.M (1998). ^ "The 10 Best Movies of 1978". ^ a b c d e f g h i k l m n o p q r s Nashawaty, Chris (July 29, 2002). Archived (PDF) from the original on June 24, 2016. Landis is dragged across a table and thrown to the floor by Bluto who then says "You don't fuck with the eagles unless you

